COUNTY SEAT TO VOTE CITY BONDS

PLAN ON FOOT TO BUILD SPUR TRACK TO NEW CITY WHARF AND WAREHOUSE; CHAMBER OF COMMERCE BOOSTS PROJECT.

Following the acquisition by Redwood City of a municipal dock and warehouse in that city, other municipal improvements are planned in direct connection. The latest is the building by the city of a spur track to connect with the newly acquired wharf. This was brought out at a largely attended meeting of the Chamber of Commerce held at the county seat Tuesday night. This organization adopted resolutions calling on the city trustees to hold an election at an early date for the purpose of voting bonds to build the needed track. There seems to be no doubt but that the city officials will sanction the election.

The cost of building the spur track which will connect with the present Chestnut street line, owned by the Redwood Harbor Company in the vicinity of the aviation school, and traverse portions of the S. H. Frank & Co.'s property and the holdings of A. S. Liguori, up East Bradford street to the wharf site will be approximately $20,000, according to figures submitted to the Chamber of Commerce at the meeting Monday night by City Engineer C. L. Dimmitt.

12-YEAR-OLD CHILD RUN DOWN BY AUTO

Azunca Bonalanza, 12-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bonalanza of 206 Lux avenue, was run down and seriously injured Tuesday evening by a car owned by J. F. Merrill of Menlo Park and driven by K. M. Bird. Bird, who is employed as chauffeur for the Merrill family, was accompanied by Mrs. Merrill. As soon as the accident happened Bird stopped the car and the girl was rushed to the South San Francisco Hospital, where it was found she had a broken leg and fractured skull. After leaving the child at the hospital, Bird drove to the home of City Marshal Conrad and told of the accident. According to both Bird and Mrs. Merrill there were some children playing at the side of the street and, although the chauffeur sounded his horn, the Bonalanza girl became frightened and ran directly into the path of the car.

JUDGE VAN FLEET ENJOINS SHIPYARD PICKETS HERE

United States District Judge William C. Van Fleet, sitting in San Francisco, Wednesday enjoined striking shipyard workers from picketing the Schaw-Batcher shipbuilding plant at South San Francisco, or from interfering with the workers on their way to or from work in any way.

WOMAN'S CLUB PLANS CARD PARTY FEB. 5TH

The South San Francisco Woman's Club is making plans for a card party February 5th at Fraternal Hall. This will be the first card party of the new club year. The proceeds from the party will go to the fund for the building of a clubhouse in this city.

Mrs. E. C. Peck is the chairman of the committee on arrangements and has announced that there is every indication of a large attendance.

THERE IS NO "FLU" IN SOUTH SAN FRANCISCO!

In view of the fact that reports are being spread about the country that there are many cases of flu in this city, The Enterprise has been at some pains to gather authoritative information as to whether there is any cause for alarm. The doctors of this city are unanimous in their statements that there is NOT ONE CASE OF SPANISH INFLUENZA IN SOUTH SAN FRANCISCO, and that there is not the slightest cause for alarm on that head. There are a few cases of measles, and to prevent this disease from getting headway the schools will be closed Monday for a few days. Here is what the doctors and School Nurse Miss Cora Rachael say:

Dr. F. S. Dolley: "There is no influenza in town and we have no reason to believe that there will be any. There are a few cases of pneumonia, a few of measles, and several of grippé, but no flu. There is no cause for alarm. Until the measles and grippé are stamped out it would be well not to congregate much and to get plenty of sleep and rest."

Dr. T. C. Doak: "There is no flu here. I haven't a single case resembling flu, although I have a few of measles and several of grippé. There is always more or less grippé here, so that gives us no reason for fright. I keep getting calls from persons thinking they have flu when it is only a touch of grippé. No, there is no flu."

Dr. R. S. Irvine: "I have not had any cases of influenza yet and do not believe there is any in this city. There are a few cases of measles and several of grippé, but the grippé is not taking anything like a violent form like influenza. I am sure there is not a case in town resembling the influenza as we knew it last year. It might be well to warn people to take ordinary precautions and to get plenty of sleep and rest. There is no reason to deny there is grippé in town, but every case is of a mild type."

Dr. J. C. McGovern, health officer: "I have not had any flu reported to me and do not know of any here. We are going to close the schools Monday for a few days, but that is on account of measles. There are several cases of measles among the children but nothing to become seriously alarmed about and we can probably stop it in a few days. No, there is no flu here."

Nurse Rachael: "Of course I have no authority to diagnose cases, but I have seen nothing resembling what I would call influenza. I think there is no reason for alarm on that score."

STREET CAR KILLS SAN BRUNO WOMAN

Mrs. Nellie Geddes Run Down at San Bruno Crossing; Dies Next Day of Injuries.

Mrs. Nellie Geddes of San Bruno, wife of George Roy Geddes, was struck by an electric car at San Bruno crossing Saturday evening and sustained injuries which caused her death at the South San Francisco Hospital Sunday. The car was bound toward San Francisco and, according to the testimony of Motorman E. Hernandez, given at the coroner's inquest in this city Wednesday morning, was traveling at a rate of about twenty miles an hour. Fred Steidle, towerman at the crossing, swore at the hearing that the crossing gates were down at the time. Both the motorman and Conductor W. H. McGowan declared the car's whistle was sounded on approaching the crossing. The tracks of the electric line parallel the tracks of the S. P. railroad at this point, and testimony showed that a freight train was passing at the time on the steam line and another car going in the other direction on the other electric track. Mrs. Geddes, who had just left a store near by, apparently passed the gates and in passing in back of the outbound car ran into the front end of the car inbound.

In rendering a verdict as to the cause of Mrs. Geddes' death, the coroner's jury made a recommendation for better lighting facilities at the crossing.

At the funeral, held Wednesday afternoon from the Neri undertaking parlors, there were many beautiful floral pieces from sympathetic friends of the deceased and her husband. Burial was at Cypress Lawn Cemetery.

EXCEPTIONALLY FINE MUSICAL PROGRAM AT "Y"

A crowded house greeted the "Oakland Girls' Trio" Thursday night at the Y. M. C. A., and the big audience listened to one of the best programs yet given at the "Y" rooms. It was, in fact, one of the finest musical programs ever heard in this city, each of the young ladies being an artist. Their instruments were the violin, violoncello, and piano. Many difficult selections were rendered in a way to satisfy the most critical.

ISSUE OF CITY BONDS IS TAKEN

BANK OF SOUTH SAN FRANCISCO BUYS SECURITIES OF CITY AND CITY HALL CONTRACT IS LET; WORK STARTS SOON.

After many months of delay, caused largely by the rapid increases in the cost of building materials and labor, steps looking toward the early beginning of work on the new city hall for South San Francisco were taken by the city trustees at a meeting held Wednesday night, adjourned from Monday night. Two important moves that will lead to the work starting soon were made, namely, the selling of the $125,000 bond issue and the awarding of the contract for the construction of the building. The Bank of South San Francisco was the successful bidder for the bonds, its offer being par value, accrued interest to the time of delivery, and $701 premium. There was but one other bidder, the Bank of Italy, which offered but face value, accrued interest and $132 premium.

The second move was the awarding of the contract for the construction of the city hall. The Larsen-Sampsen Contracting Company of 816 Crocker building, San Francisco, was the successful bidder for the work. The Larsen-Sampsen company's bid was $92,259, with a specification that a reduction of $10,000 would be made if cement finish could be substituted for the terra cotta finish the original plans called for. This offer was accepted by the trustees, and the contract awarded for $82,259. The steps preliminary to getting the greatly desired city improvements under way were further advanced Wednesday night by the accepting by the trustees of the offer of The Enterprise Publishing Company to have the bonds lithographed, the finished bonds to be delivered in about three weeks.

THREE JAILED FOR POSING AS OFFICERS

Show Badge and Demand to Inspect Wine Cellar; Arrested; Held on Gov't Complaint.

Three young men giving the names of William Treber, Samuel Treber, and William Sullivan are under arrest in San Francisco on a charge of impersonating a federal officer, the charge having been sworn to by Frank L. Foppiano, federal revenue officer for this district. The three men were first arrested in this city Sunday night on a charge of disturbing the peace, the complaint being sworn to by S. Garbino of South San Francisco. The three appeared at Garbino's house in Peck's Lots Sunday evening and asked to inspect the wine in his cellar, showing an officer's badge as their authority. After they had tasted Garbino's wine their unwilling host became suspicious and communicated with local officers, with the result that the three were placed under arrest. Samuel Treber was found to have the badge of a deputy sheriff in his possession. Brought before City Recorder J. J. Dowd, the three pleaded guilty of disturbing the peace. Foppiano then swore to the complaint charging them with impersonating a federal officer and took them to San Francisco Monday night. Tuesday the three were given a hearing in a San Francisco court and held for trial in $500 bonds each.

The three claimed to have come here recently from Seattle.

MRS. CHARLES DECKER DIES OF PNEUMONIA

Mrs. Alice Decker, wife of Dr. Charles Decker of this city, died at the family home here Tuesday after a short illness. The cause of Mrs. Decker's death was double pneumonia. Dr. Decker recently recovered from an attack of pneumonia, and the two small children, Charles and Florence, are now recovering from the grippé. The children are at the home of relatives in Palo Alto.

Mrs. Decker was 29 years of age and was the daughter of Charles Wooster of Palo Alto, from whose residence the funeral was conducted Thursday morning.

TRADE IN YOUR HOME TOWN.

C. OF C. TO TRY FOR BETTER SERVICE

COMMITTEE WILL INTERVIEW RAILROAD AND TELEGRAPH OFFICIALS WITH VIEW OF IMPROVING THEIR SERVICE.

South San Francisco will get relief from the poor street car service it is getting at present if the Chamber of Commerce can bring it about. At the meeting of the Chamber held Tuesday night a committee, consisting of A. Hynding, E. C. Peck, P. R. Thompson, and J. W. Coleberd, was appointed to present the matter to the superintendent of the United Railways Company and secure better service if possible. It was the belief of those assembled Monday night that the company could, and probably would if asked, run the "cemetery cars" down to this city, thus giving South San Francisco two street car connections with the city or with the San Mateo line where it has but one now. Several of those present told of their experiences in waiting many times at the South San Francisco station to take a San Mateo car into the city or of walking all the way to the station with no local car in sight.

Another matter that the same committee will take up is the securing of a local office of the Western Union telegraph. The need of such an office in this city has been brought up at several meetings of the Chamber, and the committeemen appointed to interview the railroad management will also consult officials of the Western Union Company with a view of securing such an office for this city. It was brought out at the meeting that it is sometimes as expensive to have a telegram delivered here as it is to send the wire the length of the state, beside the delay involved.

Two other matters of importance to South San Francisco in which the Chamber of Commerce has interested itself are the securing of free mail delivery for the northern portion of the city and the establishment at the civic center of a memorial to the men of the service from this city who lost their lives in the war. The secretary of the Chamber was instructed to communicate with Postmaster Fay of San Francisco and request that the mail delivery be given. In the matter of the memorial, a committee from the Chamber will meet with the committee recently appointed from the city trustees and the local post of the American Legion to decide on what form this memorial shall take.

INTEREST IN BILLIARD TOURNAMENT KEEPS UP

Won.	Lost.	Score.

Terribilini vs. Maitland	100 to 74
Martin vs. McSweeney	100 to 69
Erickson vs. Ditton	100 to 81

CITY BONDS TAKEN.

this city was ratified, and the city clerk was authorized to draw warrants for Miss Rachael's salary at $50 per month dating from November 1, 1919, on which date the board originally agreed to help defray the expense of a public nurse. Miss Rachael has been working in South San Francisco, Colma, and Daly City for some time, having been appointed by the Public Welfare and Health Service of San Mateo county. L. E. Adams, district superintendent of schools, appeared at the board meeting and testified to the high character of Miss Rachael's work among the school children of the city.

Grant Building Permits

The application of Gus Nicholas for permission to place marble slabs around the base of the windows of the restaurant recently purchased by himself on Grand avenue was granted. The application of Jack Debenedetti, owner of the building at the corner of Grand and Cypress avenues, for permission to remodel the front of the building was granted.

U. C. HAS LARGEST OF COLLEGE ROSTERS

Predicting a total of 10,000 students registered at the University of California by the end of the semester, Recorder of the Faculties James Sutton has announced that 8059 men and women already had been enrolled in the schools and colleges of the state university at Berkeley alone, an increase of more than 60 per cent over the figures a year ago. Of this number 7254 are undergraduate and 805 are graduate students. Seven hundred and eighty-three are new students.

This number is irrespective of the figures from the University of California Farm, Davis, from the Affiliated Colleges of the university in San Francisco, and from the southern branch of the university in Los Angeles. When the returns from these integral parts of the state university are received, it is expected that the 10,000 mark will be reached.

According to figures made known recently, the University of California was the largest in the United States with an enrollment on November 1, 1919, of 9685 students. Of this number, 287 were graduated at the end of the last semester.

A word to the wise: ADVERTISE IN THE ENTERPRISE.

SPECIAL FEATURES OF '49ERS' CELEBRATION

Every one knows most of the particulars pertaining to the celebration known as Coyote Gulch '49ers' Dance and Frontier Day, to be held February 14th. However, we will give a brief outline of some of the novelties to be introduced.

The affair will open with a surprise for all at the entrance. A carefully planned act will be staged in order to give the spectators a hearty laugh, that they may be the better fitted to enjoy the big show inside.

We have secured a number of California's pioneers to assist in carrying out our program, that it may be more in keeping with the early days.

Some of the best of talent will be with us to lead in fancy dancing, as well as competent leaders for the old-time ones such as the quadrille, Virginia reel, etc.

We have also been successful in enlisting a group of Spanish dancers, whose forefathers have handed down to them the art of the dances used in the early day fandangoes. It is predicted that many of the dances which they will show, such as the Spanish waltz, will revolutionize the future dances in this section, as they outclass our present-day dances in many ways.

Space will not allow us to go far into the details of the various amusement features. However, we will say that no matter what your taste may be, there'll be some feature that will entertain you.

After weeks of search we have gathered together a complete equipment of gambling devices such as were used in early day gambling dens. Roulette, faro, monte, and all those old games will be brought back into reality. You may follow the footsteps of the prospector of old by "bucking the tiger" just as he did years ago. It is not our wish to gamble or encourage such, but this feature is installed purely for educational purposes to show of today what took place in those days.

In those days the miners' winnings were paid in the yellow dust, while here it will be refreshment checks. So we will have all the thrill of trying to "bust the bank," but the tiger will have his teeth drawn.

There will be piles of old equipment such as silverware, cooking utensils, old handwork, ornaments, and other articles of interest which will give you a glimpse into the past and enable you to understand conditions under which the pioneers lived.

Life and effect will be added to the

Y. M. C. A. BASKETBALL TEAMS TO MEET

Y. M. C. A. basketball teams from this city and San Francisco will meet at the high school gymnasium this evening. The local team is hopeful of winning the game. This will be the third game the local team has taken part in, the other two being with Oakland Y. M. C. A. and Redwood City Athletic Club. For the game this evening the local club has been strengthened by the addition of L. E. Adams, a basketball player of wide experience, to its force. All are welcome to attend these games. They are called at 8 p. m.

occasion by the colored lights that will flood the ballroom. Special lighting devices have been secured to flood the place with ere-changing colors, giving a mellowness that will blend with the music.

Next week we will give you a bit of advice about the costumes that should be worn.—Adv't.

THE GARDEN LADY'S STORIES

These stories were written in the interests of the School Garden Army movement. Each will be found wholesome, interesting, and worth-while. Each story will be complete in three or four issues.

THE LADY IN THE DARK CLOAK.

Part II.

(By Ethel Allen Murphy.)

"Then I grew so sleepy-headed I thought I was going to fall. And I went to sleep, and I had a most beautiful dream. I did fall through great blackness, past sliding stars. I caught at them to stop myself, but couldn't; and I landed at last just as lightly as a—as a—butterfly, in another Garden, Somewhere else; and everything was so alive and beautiful that the whole world looked like a—like a—real live rainbow! The Lady in the Dark Cloud was there, only she was all in shining, changeable colors, and she was planting pansies and singing a queer, beautiful song that I can't remember now. The next morning some of the pansy blooms that had been so pretty the day before were all curled up and gray and brownish.

"She has been here many times since then, and every time she comes something else gets shriveled up and grayish or brown. And lots of times the Golden Girl takes them away and puts them on the Compost Heaps there by the rockery. I felt kind of sorry for them, you know; but that beautiful dream about the Dark-Cloaked Lady used to come floating up in my mind at such times, and I just—wondered!"

"You know, children," said the Garden Lady, "the Golden Girl thought a great deal of those Compost Heaps. She said she was 'Hooverizing food for her plant children,' just as your mothers do when they store vegetables for future use. I'll tell you how she did it. Every gardener ought to have a compost heap. If you forget what I've told you you can look on page 8 of the Fall Manual of the United States School Garden Army.

"First, she put a layer of stable manure that the Soldier Boy had had carted in from the country for her. This layer they made about 4 inches deep. This she followed by a layer of old, last year's leaves that she had saved over from the Apple Tree and from the trees on her square and in front of her house. She knew she was going to make a garden in the following spring, you know. On these she sprinkled a small quantity of lime. She followed this by a layer of earth about 2 inches thick. You see, the leaves and straw help to keep the plant food in the stable fertilizer from being washed out and lost. Twice that season she turned over the compost with a spading fork to mix the materials more thoroughly. Her material so arranged, she placed in several neat piles. I forgot to say that she used, too, the lawn sod which had covered the garden the year before, and from time to time she added to the piles the remains of plants that were through blooming or bearing in her flower or vegetable garden—the early peas, for instance. Sometimes, also, she added leavings of unused portions of vegetables from the kitchen. Once or twice, during very dry spells, she sprinkled the piles with water.

"Well, to go back to the story. When the Scarecrow had finished his long speech a deep silence fell on the Garden—a sort of hushed, drawn-in feeling, as if the Garden's children, too, felt what we were waiting for and had drawn in their breath. Then a little, sighing breath went through the air and we saw her, the Lady in the Dark Cloak, trailing her soft, dark, dark robe over the Garden toward the Compost Heap.

"That cloak, you might say, was black, and yet it wasn't like any black cloth you ever saw. It was a deep, deep darkness, like the soft darkness of night in deep water or in deep woods or in the deep, deep night sky. Yet we felt that there was something hidden under the darkness, something that glowed and was just about to shine out. It was very queer, children. We couldn't say that we saw it. We felt it, as we feel that queer light when the moon is about to rise, only this light had gold and rose color and pearly tints in it, we were sure. A cool breath came over us, as again that wind arose out of nowhere and passed us. The old Apple Tree seemed to bend toward the Dark-Cloaked Lady. There was a stir in its branches, almost like whispered words, and several more golden leaves fluttered down and around her like tired yellow butterflies. She came so close to us that we looked into her eyes. I couldn't tell what her face was like, because what I saw in her eyes was too wonderful—too wonderful to repeat in words. They were all full of strange, bright lights, and they grew deep, deep, and larger and larger, till I lost myself for a minute and seemed to be sinking in some deep sea. Then I was caught up in the heart of a bright, bright star—and went sailing away—away! No! I was still in the Garden, for the Scarecrow was plucking me by the sleeve. The air was trembling just like a great harp with wonderful deep, soft music. You know how the telegraph wires can be heard humming, singing on a windy day out in the country, if you put your ear to the pole. Well—all the air was trembling, singing like that, full of lovely voices singing in chorus some words that came to me afterwards when I—when I came back to my everyday self. The words don't seem nearly so wonderful, just as words, when I say them now, as they did with that low, soft music in them. Indeed, I believe that the music wasn't spoken in just those words; but that the words are the best my mind could do to tell you what the music said."

CEMETERY CARRIES

FIGHT INTO COURT

The fight of the Cypress Lawn Cemetery Association to prevent the sale of flowers on the highway in front of the cemetery was carried into the superior court Wednesday when the association filed suit for an injunction against Gaston, Marie, Louis, Edward, Leonie, and Adele Lievre and others to restrain them from selling flowers on the highway or sidewalks in front of the cemetery. The association says the stands and flower containers are unsightly obstructions, cause noise and confusion, and that there is danger from the water spilled. J. J. Bullock is attorney for the association.

THE PASSING AUTOIST.

He honks his horn to let you know he will smear you all over the pavement if you don't jump quickly; he passes and is gone. You don't know whether you came near being mutilated by a well-intentioned neighbor wearing a wrist-watch or by a man from Zanzibar touring the United States.

He stops at the best hotels and smokes good cigars in the lobby; but although he looks bald-headed and respectable and carries himself with a well-upholstered air like a senator from Kansas, he may, for all we know, be a restaurant waiter from the next town traveling overtime to keep ahead of the payments on his machine.

He may be as desirable a friend as a millionaire lumber- or land-thief with three pretty daughters anxious to marry; or he may be an embezzler from Utah leaving a trail of smoke and bad checks behind, and without a daughter to his name.

He gives you the impression as he drives by that he has at least three more motor-cars at home; but, as a matter of fact, the one he is riding in may be hired.

There was a time when we knew every man in Our Town and whether he were wholly respectable, and his father before him, and why; but since the automobile has made life pleasant and life-insurance necessary the passing autoist comes we know not whence, goes we know not whither, and who he is, or why he is it, we wot not, not a wot. Shall we accept his checks and perhaps get stung; or shall we refuse them and maybe insult a man who, when at home, eats breakfast with the President?

He is not bad looking as men go. He is not so fat as a real estate broker, nor so bilious looking as a grocer; and there is nothing about him to indicate whether he descended from William the Conqueror, and is rightfully ashamed of it, or ascended from the monkeys and feels a pardonable pride for so doing.

When at home he may live in a fine, large house containing all the luxuries of life and some of its comforts; or he may have his boudoir over a livery stable and spend his waking hours manicuring the live-and-rolling-stock.

And what is his errand? Is he hurrying north to endow a hospital or to hold up a bank? Is he hastening to reach the bedside of an expiring aunt before the rest of the family grab all the property; or is he just trying to get home before the pumpkins are ready to mow and the alfalfa to husk?

Is he a good neighbor and loans books without expecting their return; or is he one of the kind that throws a fit if the fat, elderly hen of the family next door tries with the best of intentions and a guileless heart to remove the worms, bugs and other detritus from around the roots of his geraniums?

Is his wife, large, blonde, and skillful with apple-pie; or is she small, dark, and fond of cats?

Life is full of uncertainties, Mr. Passing Autoist, but you are about the most uncertain little uncertainty of them all.

Am I My Brother's Keeper?

Above all else this country needs a nation-wide revival of old-fashioned prayer-meeting religion—

A religion that makes men realize that if there is a Heaven, there must also of necessity be a Hell—

A religion that makes a man realize that every act is recorded on his own conscience, and that though that may slumber, it can never die—

A religion that makes an employer understand that if he is unfair to his employees and pays them less than fair wages, measured by his ability and their efficiency and zeal, he is a robber—

A religion that makes an employee know that if he does not give full and efficient service, he, too, is a robber—

A religion that makes a farmer, who packs bad fruit at the bottom and deceives the buyer by the good fruit on the top, realize that he is a thief just as much as the one who robs a hen roost at night—

We need a revival of that religion which will make every man and woman strive in every act of life to do that which, on the great Judgment Day, they will wish they had done, as with soul uncovered they stand before the Judgment Seat of the Eternal.

A nation-wide acceptance of this, the only true religion in action, would bring business peace and world peace where there is now turmoil, and men would then cease to seek to gain their aims by lawless acts of immorality, but would in spirit and in deed follow the Divine command, "All things whatsoever ye would that men do to you, do ye even so to them."—Manufacturers' Record.

A HIGH RATE OF INTEREST.

Some months ago a subscription was taken up among the business men of South San Francisco for the purpose of establishing in this city Y. M. C. A. recreation rooms and playground. Most of those asked for contributions responded generously. Today those who contributed can walk by the playground at almost any hour of the day and they will realize the enormous rate of interest their money is drawing for the children of the town flock about the swings, teeters, and other appliances like birds where grain is scattered. No man who helped to establish that playground could see the children playing there, could hear their laughter and shouts of enjoyment without having it borne in on his consciousness that the money he put into the playground was the best investment he ever made. For the person who refused to contribute to the playground fund, the writer can feel only pity. The sight of the pleasure, the wholesome enjoyment, the healthful, muscle-building exercise those little ones are getting should make him feel like crawling into a very small, dark hole for having refused his help.

WANTED—A HAND.

The science of surgery was developed to a wonderful degree in the world war, near-miracles in mending broken anatomy were performed, but the other day a mother at Fort Sheridan appealed to the medical department at that place to perform an operation which is still numbered among the impossible, to graft a hand on a five-months-old baby. The chief surgeon reluctantly admits that science has not reached that point. A new hand can not be furnished the child now, but who knows what the future may bring to it? In five or ten years it may be possible to amputate the stump of the living child and graft on the hand of a child that has just died. The time will undoubtedly come when surgical science will be able to accomplish even this wonder.

During the Civil War many thousands of arms and legs were sawed off without the aid of an anaesthetic. Today such a thing is never even considered. A few years ago the pulling of a tooth was a fearful ordeal to the victim. Today whole sets are extracted without pain.

The modern surgeon cuts a man open, turns him inside out, cleans his organs, sews him up again, and in a few weeks the fellow is up and trying to put one over on his competitor in business.

The wonders of surgery are so great as to be almost unbelievable to the lay mind, and yet it is only in its infancy. Another great war will result in as great achievements in the development of the science as the one just closed, and it will not be at all surprising to see the hands of the dead grafted onto the shattered stumps of the living.

Few things are impossible to the man of science who is determined to succeed.

Residents of the large cities are at the mercy of the profiteers. Apparently it is a boost for every kick.

Life is one long series of giving and taking, with everybody wanting to take.

Nineteen twenty starts out bravely, but the Lord only knows how she will stagger in at the home stretch.

It takes a clever man to be a public official these days. No one of ordinary intelligence could grind out the daily excuses for inaction without repeating.

When cataloguing the frailties of your neighbor, it might be well to remember that he is probably according you the same brand of courtesy.

Politicians are experts at handing out the bunk for the simple reason that the public is just as expert at swallowing it.

Yes, "truth is mighty and will prevail!" But when?

Now who says everybody is profiteering? Postmaster Sink will still sell you a two-cent stamp for two cents.

Wood alcohol booze, like whisky, will go—but not until after its victims have gone.

"Man is the more intellectual of the sexes, and his will must prevail," vociferously proclaimed a curbstome orator to a bunch of downtrodden, browbeaten, and furtive-looking auditors. His wife had just died.

The son of an eastern college professor went to France, made a hero of himself, was decorated all over, came home, made a fool of himself, forged a check, is now in jail, and decorated in quite a different manner.

If, as they tell us, the earth is round as a ball, why is it we stumble over so many rough spots in life?

Sir Douglas Haig says the British won the war; General Pershing insists the Americans won it, and now Marshal Foch is to the front claiming that he biffed the Kaiser by the aid of divine inspiration.

At any rate, the Reds do not appear to be tarred with the same brush as some of our friends at Washington. They are not yellow.

Mrs. Byrd May Jeffie Giddens Ortman Knobloch Maguire was recently wed in Chicago. The parson, we presume, pronounced it in installments.

PRACTICAL RECIPES

Under this heading The Enterprise will publish, from week to week, a series of excellent recipes written especially for this paper by a woman who has had a university training in domestic science and a wide experience in cooking in her own home. Every recipe has been thoroughly tested and will be found economical and palatable.

Fried Rabbit

Skin, draw, wash, and cut rabbit into pieces. Dredge with flour, salt and pepper. Fry in hot fat until brown. If the rabbit is very large it should be fried slowly for about 35 or 40 minutes. A young rabbit cooked in this way and served with a cream gravy tastes very much like fried chicken.

Fricassee of Rabbit

Skin, draw, wash, and cut rabbit into pieces. Dredge with flour, salt and pepper. Brown in 4 tablespoons of fat. Change from frying pan to stew pan, cover with boiling water, and cook slowly until tender. Remove meat from broth. Thicken broth, allowing 1 tablespoon of flour to 1 cup of broth. Bring to the-boiling point and while still boiling add dumplings; cover closely and allow to steam 15 to 20 minutes. Pour dumplings and gravy over meat on hot serving platter.

Baked Apples or Pears in Sugar-Saving Style

When the sugar supply is low try these baked apples or baked pears for dessert:

Baked apples.—Select firm, smooth-skinned apples; wash carefully and remove the core. Fill the cavity with raisins or nuts and raisins. Place in a pan, add a small amount of water, cover and simmer on top of the stove for 10 minutes. Add corn syrup, a tablespoonful to each apple, place in oven and bake until tender. Serve cold with cream or warm with a foamy sauce.

Baked pears are not so familiar to many people but are equally good. The pears may be pared if desired but many people prefer the flavor when the skins are not removed. Halve or quarter the pears and remove the core. Cook in a small amount of water for 10 minutes; add corn syrup and bake until tender. A few whole spices or a small piece of ginger root give additional flavor if desired.

Dumplings

2 cups flour.
4 teaspoons baking powder.
½ teaspoon salt.
1 cup milk.
1 egg.
2 tablespoons fat.

Sift together flour, baking powder, and salt. Cut in fat. Beat egg well and add to milk. Combine the two mixtures. Drop by spoonfuls into slowly boiling gravy. Cover closely and allow to steam 15 to 20 minutes.

Casserole Rabbit

8 slices bacon.
1 large rabbit or Belgian hare cut into pieces.
2 medium-sized potatoes.
2 small onions.
2 cups hot water.
1 teaspoon salt.
¼ teaspoon pepper.

Fry the bacon until light brown and remove from the fat. Use this bacon fat to brown the rabbit, which has been dipped in flour. Arrange in casserole dish, the pieces of rabbit, the strips of bacon, and sliced onions and potatoes, and dredge lightly with flour. Pour water over all. Cover and cook slowly 2 hours.

Rabbit in Tomato Sauce

2 tablespoons lard or butter.
1½ cups tomato pulp or juice.
1 large onion chopped fine.
3 tablespoons flour.
2 teaspoons salt.
½ teaspoon pepper.
2 cups water.
1 large rabbit.

Skin, clean and wash and cut the rabbit into pieces at the joints. Dip in flour and brown in a little fat.

Put the lard or butter in a deep iron skillet or a roasting pan, and stir in the flour. Add the chopped onion and the tomato juice with the seasonings and the boiling water and cook for 5 minutes. When this is boiling put in the browned rabbit. Cover and let simmer on top of the

Fine Cottons in Spring Clothes

For some time cheerful and reassuring rumors have been floating about, like soft, spring breezes, that there is to be a return to fine, sheer cottons for blouses and dresses next spring. This is more than a rumor now, since these lovely materials are demanded by people who are flocking South in greater numbers than ever and at much earlier dates than heretofore to those winter resorts that are filled with smartly-dressed people. For them very fine voile blouses, mostly in all white and made by hand, are already an assured success. Organdy proves popular in headwear, accessories and frocks, many resort hats featuring it both in the body of the hat and in the trimmings.

All gentlewomen will welcome the return of simple dresses and blouses, beautifully made and adorned with old-time hand stitchery. There is a refinement about them not exceeded by even the sheerest silk weaves, and the crispness of organdy makes possible certain effects in trimming that cannot be duplicated by other materials. It is manufactured in all the light shades as well as white, and these are used alone and in combination with white.

In the picture above there is an example of what can be done with organdy in frock and hat. It is a simple dress with plain skirt shaped to narrow a little from the middle of the figure to the hem. Narrow frills accent its lines. There is a repetition of this trimming idea on the rather full sleeves. A plain, full waist is finished with a fichu of the organdy, edged with three flounces, and a long sash with vertical frills at the bottom completes a frock that calls for nothing but organdy in its makeup.

The pretty hat to match is of exactly the same character as the dress, but it allows itself decorations in angora yarn embroidery. This combination of the sheerest of cottons with the woollest of yarns would be startling if one had not been educated up to it by the same idea worked out in silk and angora, both taffeta and crepe-de-chine having proved that beautiful effects are wrought by it.

In January the stores all over the country present their first displays of new cotton goods for spring. Already women who are clever with the needle are planning their blouses of sheer cottons for next summer and making up things for themselves and their children so that more time may be spent out-of-doors when spring is here.

Julia Bottomley

stove or in the oven for 1 hour.

Smothered Rabbit

Skin, draw, and wash a good-sized rabbit or hare. The rabbit may be cut in halves by splitting down the back, or stuffed with a well-seasoned dressing, trussed and cooked whole, as preferred.

Put the rabbit in a roasting pan, dredge well with flour, salt and pepper and dot over with butter. Lay three or four strips of bacon across the rabbit, add 2 cups of hot water, cover and allow to cook until tender—about 1 hour. Remove the cover and allow to brown. Thicken the liquid around meat and serve as gravy.

Rabbit cooked in this way is delicious served with baked dumplings. Make a rich biscuit dough, roll out and cut in small biscuits. Have the gravy in the roasting pan boiling hot and drop the biscuit on top of the gravy. Place in the oven and brown.

"PACKINGTOWN" NOTES

Business activities in all the local departments of the Western Meat Company have shown a decided increase during the past week.

Ivan S. Boyer is back on the job after a few days spent hunting at the Chowchilla ranch. Rumor has it that he brought back six ducks—not the wild variety—only the owner was wild.

Charles Elder, timekeeper, and his wife are spending a few days at San Martin, Santa Cruz county.

The whist party given by the Welfare Club Tuesday evening was a pronounced success. Peter Kavanagh took home the ham and Mr. Wagner was the lucky winner of the bacon. Charles Hedlund Sr. won third prize and was awarded a can of Califene.

Ray Burge is confined to his home with a bad cold.

J. O. Snyder and Chief Engineer James New spent Wednesday at San Gregorio rushing the new factory to completion.

The sympathy of the plant employees and officials is extended to Roy Geddes in the great loss that has befallen him in the accidental death of his wife, who was fatally injured by a street car at the San Bruno crossing last Saturday night. A beautiful floral tribute was sent from the plant by the fellow employees of Mr. Geddes, who has been in the employ of the company since last July.

Quite a few card "sharks" are developing at the clubhouse. It would be well for amateur pedro players to keep a sharp lookout when playing with Mr. Anderson and Geo. Haaker. Further exposes may be expected in the near future.

Plans are now under way to pull off some real fistic encounters at the clubhouse in the near future. New sets of ten-ounce boxing gloves have arrived and several local aspirants are in training.

SIX INJURED INACCIDENT AT COLMA

Mrs. A. Hanrahan of San Francisco was treated at the South San Francisco Hospital Sunday night for a broken arm, sustained when the auto in which she was riding with five others "turned over" on the highway near Colma. Three of the occupants suffered only minor bruises, but Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Kenealy of San Francisco were treated at St. Luke's Hospital for severe cuts. In making a curve on the highway the machine skidded into some wet sand and overturned.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

The local basketball team defeated the 130-pound team from Cogswell high school last Friday night by the score of 21 to 15.

This is the first game of the season in which the weights of the teams were nearly even, and the local five took advantage of the occasion to chalk up a victory before a big crowd. The passing on both sides was ragged, the visitors showing up better in this, while the locals excelled in basket shooting, pulling off some fine shots. The local team lined up as follows: Murray and Gardner, forwards; Fischer, center; Dart and McMills, guards.

The Science Club had a very interesting lecture from Dr. Bryant of the University of California. Dr. Bryant illustrated his lecture on birds with slides of common and rare birds of California, after which refreshments were served. Dr. Bryant promised to return and conduct the club on a trip afield in the near future.

An Aloha Club was organized on Monday, composed of the following: Mrs. Brown, instructor; Alma Stahl; president; Edith Broner, vice-president; Bernice Farrell, secretary; Anna Smith, treasurer; Sarah May Doak, Thomas Doak, Rosalind Gsell, Myrtle Mullin, Hilda Elmers, and Miss Clifford. Practice has begun with guitar, mandolin, and ukulele.

With the Aloha Club and the orchestra active, "strains of sweet music" may be heard, both before and after school hours, floating through the halls.

ETHEL CLAYTON

A Paramount Picture

"Maggie Pepper" an Epic.

Ethel Clayton's "Maggie Pepper," which is being shown at the Royal Theater this week, is a department store picture, adapted by Gardner Hunting from the famous play by Charles Klein and released by Paramount. With a sympathetic touch and a great knowledge of human nature, both author and scenarist made this the epic of the marts of trade. It is a picture that will not soon be forgotten by those who witness it. The direction of Chester Withey is excellent and the cast one of the best ever assembled.

KENT FOR SENATOR

Kent promises are based on Kent performances.

William Kent will Fight and work as always for absolute exclusion of Orientals;

Work and vote to rectify the mistakes of the Peace Conference and establish a true League of Nations, with control of immigration and right to declare war reserved always to Congress;
Fight waste, monopoly and privilege in the distribution of life's necessities;
Oppose at every opportunity the spirit of fear, force and hatred and insist on the right of American citizens to a free discussion of the terms under which they live, barring only violence and sedition;

His record proves that he will not only do these things, but do them successfully.

There is a reason why the biggest men in the progressive Republican ranks in the House and Senate say they need Kent back there to help, inspire and lead in the fight for true Americanism.

WOMEN FILE PROTEST ON PEDDLER LICENSE

At the regular meeting of the San Bruno trustees Wednesday evening at the city hall, all members of the board being present, a petition was read from over two hundred housewives of San Bruno in regard to the request of the Chamber of Commerce presented by Attorney J. J. Bullock that a license of $250 be imposed on all peddlers operating in San Bruno. The women strongly objected to such a license, as they considered it would impose too great a hardship on them to provide the necessities of life without the help of the peddlers. The Chamber of Commerce expressed its desire to withdraw its petition until a later date. The trustees decided that the license fixed was too high and that they would have to first consider the requirement of a license from the San Bruno merchants. A communication was read and filed from Thomas McConnell of Huntington Park on the same subject. A large number of the members of the Parents-Teachers' Association attended the meeting to hear the request made by Mrs. J. J. Jones of Fourth addition, their representative, to have some improvements made on Elm avenue, also to have proper bridges and filling-in work done on Poplar and Tucker avenues to make it safer for the children going to and coming from school. This matter was referred to Commissioner of Streets Harry Palmer, with instructions to have the improvements made as soon as possible. Much discussion was caused by the accident which occurred at San Bruno crossing Saturday evening, when Mrs. Geddes of Belle Air Park was struck by a United Railroads car, dying later at the South San Francisco Hospital. Attorney J. F. Davis said he would do what he could to have the rate of speed of the cars regulated to safeguard the lives of pedestrians and others having to cross the tracks, also to have the cars stop at safer stopping places. Mr. Suparich of Belle Air Park spoke on this matter, as did P. J. Sullivan and several others. Attorney Davis especially requested the attendance of the ladies at the water commissioners' meeting to be held Thursday morning in the city hall at 10 o'clock, when the new water system to be installed in San Bruno Park and First addition by taxing each lot $38.60 would come up for discussion.

The water commission held its hearing on water rates Thursday morning in the city hall. There were a considerable number of the women of San Bruno present at the meeting as requested. Davis read the statements of Colonel Childs concerning the water company's plant and meters, also the report of the price, which was $57,683. After much discussion, Mr. Davis asked that $30,000 be deducted for the price of the distributing mains already paid by the people. P. J. Sullivan was sworn in as a witness for the people of San Bruno. HANDY FOR REFERENCE.

A member of the World Trade Club holds the world record for rapid explanation of the metric weight measurements and the way in which they ought to be used. He does this in one minute. An objector who had never looked the matter up declared that the metric system was complex and that it would take a long time to learn it. It was then that the member of the World Trade Club first undertook to explain, in one minute, all that is needed to be known of metric units. He did it to the satisfaction of eminent auditors. Here is how he did it:

"Learn only the units, dollar, meter, liter, gram—dollar, the measure of value; meter, the measure of length; liter, measure of bulk; gram, for weight. You know all about the American dollar. The metric units, meter, liter, gram, are just like dollar, divided decimally and multiplied decimally. If you want to compare metric units with present units, the meter is 10 per cent more than the yard; 500 grams is about 10 per cent more than the pound avoirdupois, the liter is 5 per cent less than the United States liquid quart (13 per cent less than the British liquid quart)—that is all 90 per cent need to use the metric standards."

ADDED PROTECTION FOR FISH AND GAME OF STATE

Added protection to California's fish and game is assured by a co-operative agreement just executed by Game Commissioner Carl Westerfeld of the Fish and Game Commission of California and District Forester P. G. Redington, representing the Federal Forest Service.

"Wild life on the national forests in California is a resource which, besides being of great economic value, adds materially to the enjoyment of the forests by the people of the state," says Commissioner Westerfeld in commenting on the agreement.

"Since the Forest Service is entrusted with the management of the national forests, on which both fish and game are plentiful, and since the protection and perpetuation of that fish and game is a duty delegated to the Fish and Game Commission by the state, I consider the co-operative agreement a most happy one," he continued.

The stocking of forest streams with trout from state hatcheries and active assistance in the enforcement of all game laws by forest rangers, together with provisions by which game wardens will receive appointments as "fire" wardens, are points covered by the agreement.

A HORSE ON NIERI.

Monday evening Lawrence Nieri had the novel experience of holding a horse on his lap. It happened when Nieri backed his low-hung, stripped auto out of the garage on the alley between Grand and Miller avenues directly in the path of a milk wagon from the Baldini dairy. The horse was so close to Nieri that it couldn't stop, and, rearing, came down across the machine directly on the driver's lap. Nieri was unhurt and there was no damage to the car except a broken steering wheel.

HAS BIG WINDOW BROKEN.

During the stage holdup on the street last Saturday night by the Moose advertising their coming '49er celebration, a large window in the front of W. L. Hickey's plumbing shop was broken. One of the Hickey boys was standing by the window when a horse, ridden by one of the make-believe stage robbers, and standing on the sidewalk, swung about, striking the boy and knocking him through the window. By a happy circumstance the lad and his little brother, about five or six years old, who stood beside him, escaped injured, although the horse stepped entirely over the smaller boy.
